SUBJECT : Weekly Report of School of Intelligence and World Affairs No. 9, 26 June - 2 July 1970

COURSE ACTIVITY

Orientation for Nominees to Senior Officer Schools

Done
This program, which ended yesterday, was deemed highly successful by most of the participants. It's the first time we've obtained the services of the Director and all four Deputy Directors in this type of activity. A detailed course report will be submitted shortly.

Writing Workshops

There is nothing from Angela
The Intermediate Writing Workshop which began on 8 June ended on Wednesday. Of the original seven assigned to the course, one cancelled out before the first class and one dropped out at the half-way mark. Two others, not originally assigned, brought the total finishing back to seven.

The Basic Writing Workshop also ended this week. It began with 17 students; one was "promoted" to the Intermediate Workshop after the first class; five others were withdrawn by their home offices at various times during the course. Thus only 11 students finished the whole course.

25X1A5a1 ✓ [REDACTED] has completed his contract writing courses for NPIC and OSI; NPIC is arranging for two more runnings of the course this summer.

25X1A9a

25X1A6a ✓ [REDACTED] will begin a two-week full-time Special Writing Workshop at [REDACTED] on Monday, 6 July.

SWOOP Program

25X1A9a

Mr. [REDACTED] from [REDACTED] called to say that the entire SWOOP for July (Introduction to Intelligence, Introduction to Communism, and Orientation for Overseas) has been cancelled. Main reason appears to be lack of available overseas positions for technicians currently in training, because of OPRED, BALPA and other factors.

BRIEFING ACTIVITYSenior Foreign Official

On 29 June, at a safehouse, [REDACTED] briefed [REDACTED] Chief of the [REDACTED] Service, on the role of intelligence in U.S. national security structure and on CIA's general functions. What was scheduled as a one-hour briefing was prolonged another hour and a half by [REDACTED] interest and questions.

He seemed particularly interested ⁱⁿ (1) the relationship of the intelligence community to the policy level, including the principle of trying to keep the two separate, (2) the separation of production and collection within CIA, (3) (apparently for local reasons) the functioning of the Watch Committee, and (4) budgetary controls over CIA.

US Government Group

25X1A9a

On 29 June, at Headquarters, [REDACTED] gave a briefing on CIA for 20 members of the Air Force Junior Officer Council from NSA, Fort George G. Meade.

Academic Group

25X1A9a

On 2 July, at Headquarters, [REDACTED] gave an unclassified briefing on "Intelligence and CIA" to some 45 Maryland High School honor students. Under the sponsorship of Congressman Gude, they are receiving an extensive orientation on the workings of their government. The questions they asked were intelligent; they also revealed a Congress-oriented group.

INTERNAL BRIEFING

25X1A9a

Orientation for Summer Employees: On 29 June, at Headquarters, Mr. [REDACTED] conducted this program for 47 CIA EOD's.

Training for [REDACTED]

25X1X7

The three week formal training program for two visiting [REDACTED] began 29 June. In this first week we have provided them with a general look at the Community and Agency set-up and a survey of Soviet policy and broader political, military and economic trends. Of special interest was an afternoon visit to INR where, following briefings by the Soviet staff, Dr. [REDACTED] gave about 40 minutes of his time to discuss broader intelligence problems. Thursday was spent at DIA.

25X1A9a

Look ahead, the second week will focus on key intelligence sources and major intelligence supports to the production process. The third week will stress active exchanges with selected economic, political, and military production analysts.

Our part of the course training is scheduled to wind-up on 17 July. It now appears, however, that the visitors will stay in Washington the following week as student-guests of the DIA.

[REDACTED] to Begin TDY at NPIC

25X1A9a

[REDACTED] will be on TDY at NPIC from 6 July for about four weeks to begin work on a training manual, "The Analysis of Imagery for Intelligence Purposes." [REDACTED] has kindly agreed to provide 25X9A8 office space for Henry in the Training Branch.
